LAW DEPARTMENT, CITY OF NEW YORK OTITUE OF THE ATTORNEY TO THE CORPORATION NOS. 115 AND 117 NASSAUSE., May 8, 1865. To the Honorable MORGAN JONES, President of the Bo of Aldermen:

Sia: I am informed that a resolution ha used the Board over which you preside to the effect tiens all suits pending for the enforcement of the dinances of this city. Although I am, as yet, without any official information from the Board concerning this matter, I think it well to take notice of that reso ation so far as to make it the occasion of a commu posed necessity for offering that resolution, or of th al object designed to be affected by it. It is entirely retrospective in its language; it applies to all suit or suit, or class of persons or of suits, but it is to affect pending, and it directs that all proceedings therein shall be absolutely discontinued until further ers by the Common Council. The effect of such a may cause many judgments to be entered against city and in favor of the defendants for the costs of se suits. I do not allude to other and greater injury either by the charge being trivial of been here, I am unable rmer administration. And such will cone to be the rule of this office; for I regard the pro pline. Whenever a complaint is properly applicable to his case; if the correction is n require that the action should be further As, for instance, if a person is charge r out of tepair, or a person has through ignorance nec called a "junk-shop," and has no book of his purchases eases I have suspended proceedings in th action until the defect complained of is remedied and ordinance violated is complied with-that is, where the offense does not arise from an habitnal defiance of the law. I remit the penalty, because th parties have shown a willingness to obey the municipa na but discipline and order. But whenever it is evdeat that the offender is a persistent, habitual violate by the public authorities to do my duty. As I am at present unable to even apprehend what determinate point the resolution in question aims at, I must b allowed to treat the subject generally. I desire that you and the Board of Aldermen and Conneilmen should have very exact ideas as to the present mode and principles of conducting the business f this office. It will serve for guidance in any future legislation concerning it.

All charges, with few exceptions, for violations of or dinances, are lodged in this office by the Commissioner This is the method practiced in all large cities in Europe and in this country. Less com nature of the thing, act, fu the fres instance, upon the en day of the summens, one come to this effice and himself, or by some competent person, make an explanation of the facts of the case, and if it comes within the operation of the principles which I have of Again, where through the neglect or mistake of the defendant, judgment is entered on his non appearance at Court, even then, in proper cases, I deal with the judgment on the same principle. And for this I find authority given me in article 3, chap. 5, of the Re-Vised Ordinances of this city. Let me now, sir, call your attention and that of the Board of Aldermen to some of the classes of cases which require exceptional trentment. First: Licenses are granted to dealers in second-hand articles, and to those who keep what are called "junkthe ensuing twelve months. Parties applying at any intermediate time during the year have no deducremained at Vera Cruz."

The Societad says news of the 18th ult. from the city of Mexico report a reverse to the Belgian and Mexico, forces at Taenubaro (Michoscan), which had been sent to occupy the town in accordance with the plan of pacification of that Slate. 1.666 men under Paelita, Salazar and Rivas, joined a portion of Regule's forces, numbering 1.290, and fell upon the imperfuliate on the little temperature of the little capitulated after the Junrists had set fire to a church to which they had retreated. Nine were killed, 11 wousded, 18 escaped, and the remainder of the force was incorporated with the Junrists. The Societaed concludes: tion made, but must pay for the whole year. Among the charges lodged in this office as late as the month of March and April last, by the Commissioners of Pelice, are many against persons doing such business without licenses. In all these cases actions have b allowed by a sort of their consent to go along with out a license to nearly the end of the year, and in others have caused nearly all these cases to be suspended un. til after the second Monday of May, instant, when the parties will have an opportunity to take out licenses for the ensuing year, and on the production of such license, owing their disposition to conform to the law, they have been already informed that the penalty for the past violation will not be enforced. The cheerful sequieseence of the parties themselves in the Justice of this course leads me to hope for a more general observance of the ordinance referred to than any oppres

Austrians had arrived to garraon that place. The city authorities had been imprisoned for being disrespectful.

The Marquis de Mentholan was received at a farewell audience by the Emperor and then with the Marchionbe by the Emperor and then with the Marchionbe by the Emperors, and they both attended a banquet in the evening. Marchal Bezante was present. These were the first importal attentions they had received for a long time. The Grand Cross of Quadaloupe was conferred upon the Marquis. He has arrived here in the French steamer of wer Forfair on Sunday, and left for Port Royal yesterday. He then proceeds to Baltimore and Washington.

We are told that "Georitors and robbers abound in the State, and are committing the most repognant sive infliction of penalties would be likely to compel. Scoud: Among those charges ledged at the same time are many against persons of the same classes for not keeping a book or record of their purchases, minking purchases from minors and after nightiall. These are really important requirements. The ordinance upon which these charges are made is in aid of the ice. It is, if obeyed, a check upon the commission of petry largenies; it aids the police to trace and to cover the stolen article and to detect the culprit. It is least objectionable method of exercising a comif left undisciplined, would in the hands of careless of out persons be the depositories of petty thefts, and become seminaries of larger crimes. If this relinance did not oxist, or if it is not to be enforced, equent inconvenience will be given to these shop Meepers themselves by antimely and most serutinizing visits from the police under the authority of search warrents. No good citizen will wish to impair the efficiency of this requirement. The most of the cases now pendof purchases I have long since caused to be suspended.

The "reprenouncing" of Cortinas is confirmed, though we are told that his force cannot exceed 300. This is a partial statement, and is not believed. Bands have been organized and furnished with arms. Or the foreign residents, 600 to 700 Germans, 300 French, 200 Spaniards and 100 English, and two companies of the civil guard or police, about 1,500 men, beside the garrison and all Gen. Mejta's troops—all to resist Cortinas and 300 men. And then these 300 men have cut off all communication of Mejta's army with the interior, and the river, the dilligence is robbed, and the Mexican passengers carried all as prisoners.

These 300 men menneing Matamoros and exacting the capitulation of Mejta, have caused a number of stringent laws and decrees to be issued—among them the following from the Prefect of the Police of the Department of Matamoros.

"It consideration of the threatening circumstances this Department is kept in by the revolutionary bordes that room through it and which it is necessary to suppress, and using the ample powers that have been conferred upon me, I ordain that the following orders shall be obeyed in this city:
